TEAMWORK

GOALS

Businesses nationwide understand the importance of camaraderie and trust among co-workers. Team building activities allow co-workers to work together in a setting outside of the office, combining their skills to solve problems and work through extraordinary situations. Charlotte Arrangements customizes programs to fit your group and meet your objectives. Here are some ideas to get you started:

Talent wins games, but teamwork and intelligence wins championships.
- Michael Jordan

Racecar Ridealongs
Your team members will learn safety regulations, racecar driving techniques and the importance of teamwork between drivers and pit crews. They'll be fitted with helmets and driver's suits to ride shotgun - or take the wheel themselves - in NASCAR-style stock cars reaching speeds up to 165 mph. The shared exhilaration of riding laps around Lowe's Motor Speedway is sure to bring your team closer together.

Climbing the Walls
Rock climbing is an exercise that involves trust, concentration, communication and, most importantly, teamwork — all skills that can improve productivity and relationships. Rock climbing is a great opportunity for your team to get together for a short two-hour break between meetings or for a half-day getaway.

Teamwork divides the task and doubles the success. - Unknown

Food for Thought — and Teamwork
Feel the heat...in the kitchen that is. Pair up with teammates and learn the essential ingredients to whipping up a favorite dish. From exotic dishes to wine education, our master chefs can provide the ingredients your group will need to cook up a storm in your next board meeting.

None of us is as smart as all of us. - Ken Blanchard

The LEGO® Challenge
A three-part event that gives teams sets of LEGOs to use to build a car, a boat and the tallest structure they can. Ingenuity, engineering and project management skills are all put to the test as each team competes to build the most efficient, imaginative and functional LEGO creations.

Teamwork is the fuel that allows common people to attain uncommon results.- Unknown

Photo Safari
It's an "Amazing Race" as teams are set loose in a designated area (it could be uptown Charlotte, SouthPark or any location you choose) decked out in the costumes or outfits they've been given and armed with a Polaroid camera. Each team has a different route and uses the camera to take pictures of specific people, places or things. The goal is to make it back to the finish line with the most creative and fun photos.

Build-A-Bike
Your guests will split into groups and build a bike from scratch. Throughout the process, teams design a "Team Storyboard" of their experience. After they have built the bike, they test it out with a fun and exciting racecourse, and, for the finale, they give the bike to the children's charity of your choice. It's great fun with a "feel-good" ending.
